

Words from José Miguel Sánchez to all the comrades and underground action groups of the world

To the conscious minds who fight in the struggle in the streets around the globe...

It is so naive to think about a generalized rebellion when what the poor people have done for centuries has been to submit themselves to norms and be passive wage slaves. Their passive bodies making the dominant class as well-stocked as ever; dictating norms and laws made for it to keep enriching itself with the consent of a people used to being submissive - to the point of stupidity - always hoping for a crumb for their submissiveness.

Where are the insurgents? ... In communities, neighborhoods, universities, high schools ... How many ready to take up the struggle in all of its aspects? ... always very few. What is needed is to grow in determination and conviction, since we know that the bourgeoisie is and will be a strong and powerful enemy. In the class struggle we are many more, but they can count on the authorization and protection of the State. They possess state-of-the-art technology, with the servile protection of the police minions and with all they have at their disposal. They guard and protect their possessions with tooth and nail, but we should use everything to demolish them.

We have the most important reason to defeat them, and that is the desire to be truly free, to not have any kind of authority to submit to. That is greater than everything. If we have the conviction of being in a class war, we should prepare ourselves for everything; be ready for the use of all the elements and actions to defeat the privileged class and its Power; Also one should have in mind the dangers that action brings with it, such as prison or death, every one of us should be a conscious entity and act in consequence.

*"No God, no law, no country.
Every man an Army,
no one obedient to anyone else.*

No altars, no sanctions, no flags for slaves to find to tie themselves to..."

A verse recited by Catalina Solis Gutiérrez, 90 years old (2012), daughter of Osvaldo Solis Soto, anarcho-syndicalist murdered by the cops on December 27, 1932.

Letter from José Miguel after reading "Mapping the Fire" in the Colina II Prison, Chile

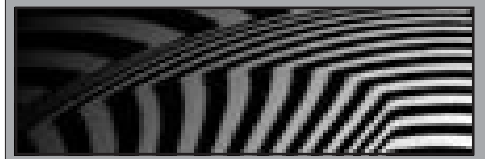

Dearest companions in struggle,

Today after reading the book "Mapping the Fire"* by the CCF I feel more absolute than ever, I feel proud to be part of this universe of indomitable warriors, of hating and rejecting every kind of authority, of being a declared enemy of the capitalist State and of the dominant class, of saying to the four winds that I hate the bourgeoisie and their social peace with all of my being.

And in spite of the 19 years in prison that I carry, I have never repented for the steps made in the course of being consistent with what I think. And the criminalization of revolutionary ideas does not frighten me. And state Power will not achieve the submission of my person and rebellion grips my being in every moment. It is part of me and I embrace it lovingly for it to be part of my struggle against the established.

Reading the texts from our brother Luciano "Tortuga" filled me with strength and increased my desire to stay in the struggle, I am in it to the Editorial : Who are we?

This is an intermittent news-sheet of anarchist prisoner solidarity and direct action reports, compiled from the output of the international network for counter-information and translation. In the last 12 months, Dark Nights has been coming out every month, but this March we took a break to reflect on the project. This publication exists to bring you regular updates of the war against domination and hierarchy, for your knowledge, co-ordination and action. In these regular few pages you'll find global coverage with a particular focus on the new anarchist asymmetric warfare taking place in Russia, Europe, Latin America and South East Asia.

This publication would not exist without the efforts of dozens of anti-state/anti-system blogs such as actforfree, waronsociety, contrainfo, liberaciontotal, vivalaanarquia, informa-azione etc (see our links back page). These changing, evolving websites are points of contact and meeting places marked on a map of world-wide anarchist sabotage and attack. The armed words of the direct action groups which accompany their attacks, and the letters and speech of the comrades held hostage, are recalcitrant proof of a time of heightening struggle against the system. Regardless of the methods, which we never put into a scale of which is better or worse, simply which is most appropriate for the moment and suits our libertarian vision, we stand next to all the individuals, groups and networks which are at this time fighting back against the system and expressing their ideas with deeds. The false austerity - manufactured crisis - of the capitalist oligarchs is another attempt to accumulate and centralise financial value into the hands of the few - the super elite. Any real change has to be revolutionary and insurrectional, extra-parliamentary and beyond the law. The present system cannot be reformed, it has to be totally destroyed.

end and I will die on my feet, fighting, I do not fear the consequences nor the response of the powerful. I have nothing to lose and nothing to hide, they know who I am and I show my face for what I say and do. I do not hide my identity, since I have been burned for a long time now, face to face I give battle and I strike head-on, to my struggle and to my peers I owe as much as to my daughters and my partner, who are the most beautiful thing I have in this life of troubles, I count on them and on the palpable solidarity of my peers, to whom I send my gratitude.

*With the fight in my blood,
Fraternally,*

Letter from Alfredo Cospito and Nicola Gai (Italy)

A conspiratorial hug to all the anarchists of action

It has been six months since we were kidnapped by four clowns in gowns and their lackeys in uniform. Six months which have only strengthened our hatred towards the State and the authority, and our determination to continue to struggle for their destruction. We've been always convinced that what imprisoned anarchists need is the warmth and anger of those who keep on attacking.

Every time we hear the noise of the key locking 'our' cells, this conviction becomes stronger. We can't describe the joy and strength we feel when we get news of some action of attack, when we hear the echo of the dynamite trying to tear up the greyness of social peace.

We want to express loudly the love and conspiratorial closeness we feel towards the comrades who sabotaged ATMs in Milan in solidarity with us. The same goes for the sisters and brothers of the Indonesian cell 'Anger Unit – International Conspiracy for the Revenge of FAI/FRI', and the sisters and brothers of the Chilean cell 'Insurreccional Anti-authoritarian Cell Panagiotis Argyrou FAI/FRI'. A solidarity hug also to our sisters and brothers of the 'Unscathed Cell of Revenge FAI/FRI', who in Greece gave a splendid example on what solidarity with prisoners means.

Of course we also want to hug all those comrades who, anonymously or giving a name to their revolt or giving life to the international project of the FAI/FRI continue to animate and practise the dream of the destruction of State and capital, the dream of a free and wild life.

Go on, comrades, there is a whole world to be demolished!

A solidarity hug to our sister and brothers of the CCF FAI/FRI first phase. Your projectuality gives us hope!

Long live direct action!

Long live the new anarchy!

Nicola and Alfredo

Nicola and Alfredo are accused of the non-fatal shooting of CEO Roberto Adinolfi, of Ansaldo Nucleare in Genoa. The action was claimed in the name of Olga Economidou of the Conspiracy of Cells of Fire, Greece. Olga Cell-FAI, took responsibility.

Marco Camenish writes about the decision of the court of review on Stefano and Elisa's case (Switzerland, Italy)

Stefano and Elisa are among the comrades imprisoned following operation 'Ardire' in Italy. Marco Camenish is a long-term eco-anarchist prisoner who is accused in the same case.

I copy and transmit extracts from the 27 pages of the 30/10/2012 court document I received from Elisa and Stefano, where the 'court of review' explains its reasons for extending Stefano and Elisa's ordinance of remand in custody.

Everything about nothing... (Stefano)
'The seriousness of the facts, which it is not necessary to explain, the continuation of these facts in the course of time up to the enforcement of the ordinances of remand in custody, the number of investigated people concerned, their commitment to wide international criminal circuits and to the terrorist strategy planned and enacted by FAI, their constant and prominent role: unquestionably all these are signals of high criminal ability, as they express a non occasional dedication to committing serious offences against the State, on both a national and an international level (...)'
"The defendants acted in close and personal contact with well known criminal individuals such as Gabriel Pombo da Silva and Marco Camenish (...)"

"It must be added that this criminal assessment is further confirmed by both total lack of reconsideration the defendants showed of their behaviour and the convictions that Fosco [Stefano] was subjected to in 1992 and 1994 following violation of the rules on conscientious objection and contempt of court. These convictions demonstrate the defendant's inability to amend his conduct and his continuous commitment to criminal intentions."

Elisa: Obviously this document is a copy-and-paste of the original prosecution's motivations, plus their conclusions... The fact is we never denied the existence of Culmine, as everybody knows. According to them, owing to reasons of social control of course, such motivations become crimes with purposes of terrorism. Here are some of their precious conclusions: "ideological contribution", "overstepping of the limits of communication and information", "economic support to anarchists in Chile", "use of their domicile as centre of communication", "they did not even change their behaviour after the searches of 29/03/2012... in fact they wrote a communiqué where their informed their comrades of what had happened." On the evidence resulting from these facts there's not much to be said. It is sufficient that "there was no reconsideration of your behaviour, you did not repent and you continue to be anarchists and to organize 'communication', i.e. information and solidarity in your house, even in close and personal contact with well known criminal individuals such as Gabriel Pombo da Silva and Marco Camenisch"... who obviously are always good pretexts to make up for the absence of substance proving any "crime of association"....

Report from imprisoned anarchist comrade Giuseppe Lo Turco (Italy)

Here is a short report on the prison of Ferrara by anarchist prisoner Giuseppe Lo Turco, held hostage in the Operation Ardire:

It seems that the press had announced our arrival at the prison of Ferrara, as the guards were not that happy to see us. There are six cells in total. At the moment we don't have a fridge. There exists no recreation space, apart from a small courtyard of about 12 metres per 6. So if you don't go there you remain in your cell. No gym or gym equipment. They come to beat the bars twice or thrice a day and search the cell very often. Of course it is impossible to communicate with other prisoners. They don't call it AS2 [High Surveillance] unit but this is what it is in all respects.

Now anyone can have an idea about the situation.

Anarchist comrade Giulia released from prison and put under house arrest (Italy)

Giulia Marziale, one of the comrades remanded in custody following operation 'Ardire', was granted house arrest by the court of review on March 19. She's now being detained at her parents' home in Teramo.

Elisa, also accused, is still in jail. The only female comrade still in prison following operation 'Ardire', on March 21 she got another three months of censorship on her mail. The reason would be her correspondence with Marco Camenish and Gabriel Pombo Da Silva. She too is being delivered letters very slowly, including those from her family (sometimes she gets letters with a month delay). It would be the case to massively send letters to the comrade right now.

Turin: Arrests and other restrictive measures: three comrades are jailed (Italy)

Six comrades were subjected to restrictive measures and some were jailed. The charges refer to an episode that occurred during a demo outside the migrants' detention centre of Corso Brunelleschi, when a photographer of the xenophobic shitty paper CronacaQui was kicked out and a French comrade taking part in the demo was subsequently deported to France. Of the six warrants, four are ordinances of remand in custody. As a consequence, Paolo, Marta and Greg were jailed, whereas another comrade could not be found. As for the other two restrictive measures, one is prohibition of residence in Turin, notified to a French comrade, whereas another comrade has not been notified yet. Police are still hunting. During the operation other comrades were arrested and taken to the local police station. Greg was beaten up, admitted to hospital and subsequently moved to prison.

Update about Gabriel Pombo Da Silva (Spain)

After 20 years spent in the Spanish dungeons (including 14 during the ongoing FIES isolation regime) that he managed to flee, Gabriel was arrested again in 2004 after a run-in and subsequent shoot-out with the cops in Germany. He served 9 additional years in that country. Extradited to Spain on February 25th, 2013, to finish the end of a sentence waiting for him there. He was transferred an additional 3 times in less than 2 months.

Now in the prison of Valdemoro (Madrid) he appears before the 'National Audience' on Tuesday, April 16th, 2013, for the purpose of presenting him with the 'European Arrest Mandate' filed against him in March in Italy, within the scope of Operation Ardire. Gabriel is determined to refuse this measure. Nevertheless, if this process is validated, he will appear in front of 3 judges about a week after, this time before a public audience.

It's clear that this petition against Gabriel is for the purpose of extraditing him to the wing in the prison of Ferrara.
